

The Main Library

The Foyer

Designed by Sir Basil Spence, the Main Library was opened in 1967 and A-listed in 2006. The state-of-the-art decor offers a harmonious mix between contemporary architecture and the Library's unique 1960s interior design.

Panoramic views of the Meadows and George Square are in line with Sir Spence's original vision.

A highlight of the Main Library Foyer is an oft-photographed centre-piece art installation by Turner Prize-nominated artist, Nathan Coley.

Self-Issue Machines

Users can borrow books using self-issue machines, located on the Ground Floor and floors 2, 3 and 4.

Self-Return Machines

Available on the Ground Floor at the entrance of the Main Library and also to the right of the Help Desk.

The EdHelp Desk

Staff assist with Library, IT, Admin-related queries, Lost and Found, and University Card Services. Queries can also be escalated to appropriate teams for more specialist help.

The HUB Collection

(Access for staff and students only)

Located to the rear of the Helpdesk, the High Use Book (HUB) Collection is mainly used by undergraduates or new students, and makes for an easier transition from a school to a University Library. Advanced undergraduates and postgraduates tend to use the upper floors of the Library.

Also in the HUB, requested books await collection from the Hold Shelf, and a self-issue Laptop Service is available.

IT and print

Computing (for staff and students), copying, printing and scanning are available on all floors.

Reception

Staffed 24/7 by Library Facilities and Estates: if you are visiting the library, or have lost your University card, this desk will be your first port of call.

Ground Floor Study Spaces

Three types of study spaces are available: fixed PCs, study pods, and informal seating areas. 20 quick-use PCs are available to check emails or for printing. Additional study pods allow for group work and discussion spaces. Most pods include digital display spaces.

Exhibition Gallery

The Main Library Exhibition Gallery hosts a changing programme showcasing the University's historic and contemporary collections. Developed by the Heritage Collections team with University and community partners, exhibitions aim to inspire and challenge. Free and open to all.

The Main Library is open 24/7, except for the festive season. For access, swipe with your University card.

The Signature Room

This study space allows students to work in groups and displays the signatures of famous students of the past including Charles Darwin, Robert Louis Stevenson, Arthur Conan Doyle and Walter Scott.

Designed to look like “the inside of a cigar box” as an homage to the historic use of this space as a smoking room.

The Library Café

Accessible from inside and outside the Library, the Café is open to the University community as well as the general public. PCs inside are available for staff and students to use.

Lower Ground Floor

A large study space offers a combination of individual desks and group study rooms, with and without PCs.
